Ohio Valley Ag Online Parts Sales Becomes Agrimart and Unveils New and Improved Website.

Owensboro, KY October 3, 2011— Ohio Valley Ag Online Parts Sales, an American corporation and an industry leader in agricultural sales, will launch their new name and website in the near future. Now premiering as Agrimart, this expanding internet company still features the same outstanding customer service and products, but with a new and exciting website making browsing and purchasing agricultural parts and equipment simple and fast. Customers will now be able to buy items online from www.agrimart.net.

The new and improved website offers 24 hour ordering with same-day and next-day shipping options to any location in the United States & Canada. Agrimart will also feature a new and expanded product line-up. Search by category or brand for your favorite items and find product descriptions, specifications, and even customer reviews to ensure you purchase the perfect items.

Agrimart, previously known as Ohio Valley Ag Online Parts Sales, has been offering industry leading agricultural parts and equipment since February 2007. Originating in Owensboro, Kentucky where the main warehouse is located, Agrimart's parent company Ohio Valley Ag, LLC has grown to include two additional locations. The second warehouse can be found in Russellville, Kentucky, with the newest location in Greenburg, Indiana.

Agrimart is a customer-centered company that understands exceptional service during all stages of a sale is vital to keep customers coming back year after year. This mentality is clearly visible on a daily basis, as Agrimart's policies were constructed with this underlying principle in mind. Agrimart has a staff of technical sales and parts personnel as well as an experienced and highly dedicated service department to answer any questions customers may have.

Start shopping and saving at www.agrimart.net and experience the improvements for yourself!

The online staff at Agrimart are still happy and eager to assist customers with any questions they may have.
